Guest auditing is designed for the person who wishes to attend a GIAL course without admission to GIAL and who already has completed an advanced degree in a related discipline. The number of auditors allowed, per class, will be limited to one auditor in a class of 5-19 credit students; two auditors in a class of 20-29 credit students; three auditors in a class of 30-39 credit students, etc. Admitted GIAL students will have first priority to audit a course. If no admitted students are registered to audit a particular course, International Guest auditors will have preference over U.S. Guest auditors.

Presentation of this documentation DOES NOT guarantee admission to the course. Permission for Guest auditors to attend class will be tentative until census day when a decision will be made. The registration fee will be held in the Registrar's Office until then. However, an international student who has already been approved to be a Guest auditor by the Registrar will be exempt from this tentative status.

Auditors may participate in class discussions, submit written assignments and take exams only at the invitation of the instructor. They are NOT permitted to submit the final assignment and no record of enrollment will be kept by GIAL. Auditors who wish to participate fully and engage in all instructional activities must register for credit. Any additional requirements are at the sole discretion of the instructor who will communicate these requirements to the student when he/she obtains the instructor's permission to audit.

Normal GIAL policies relating to audits also apply to Guest auditors. These include policies governing prerequisites, tuition and fees.
